What Churchill Failed to Say!

WINSTON CHURCHILL MP HAS warned that Britain's way of life is under threat from the continuing influx of immigrants. Mr. Churchill, not noted for his nationalist views, has shown some courage in speaking out, but what is more relevant today is what he failed to say.

In his speech, the grandson of Britain's famous wartime leader, made no mention of the fact that . . .

★ . . racially motivated crimes both by Black on White and White on Black are increasing at an alarming rate.

★ . . in Germany the huge influx of Turks has resulted in horrific racial conflict.

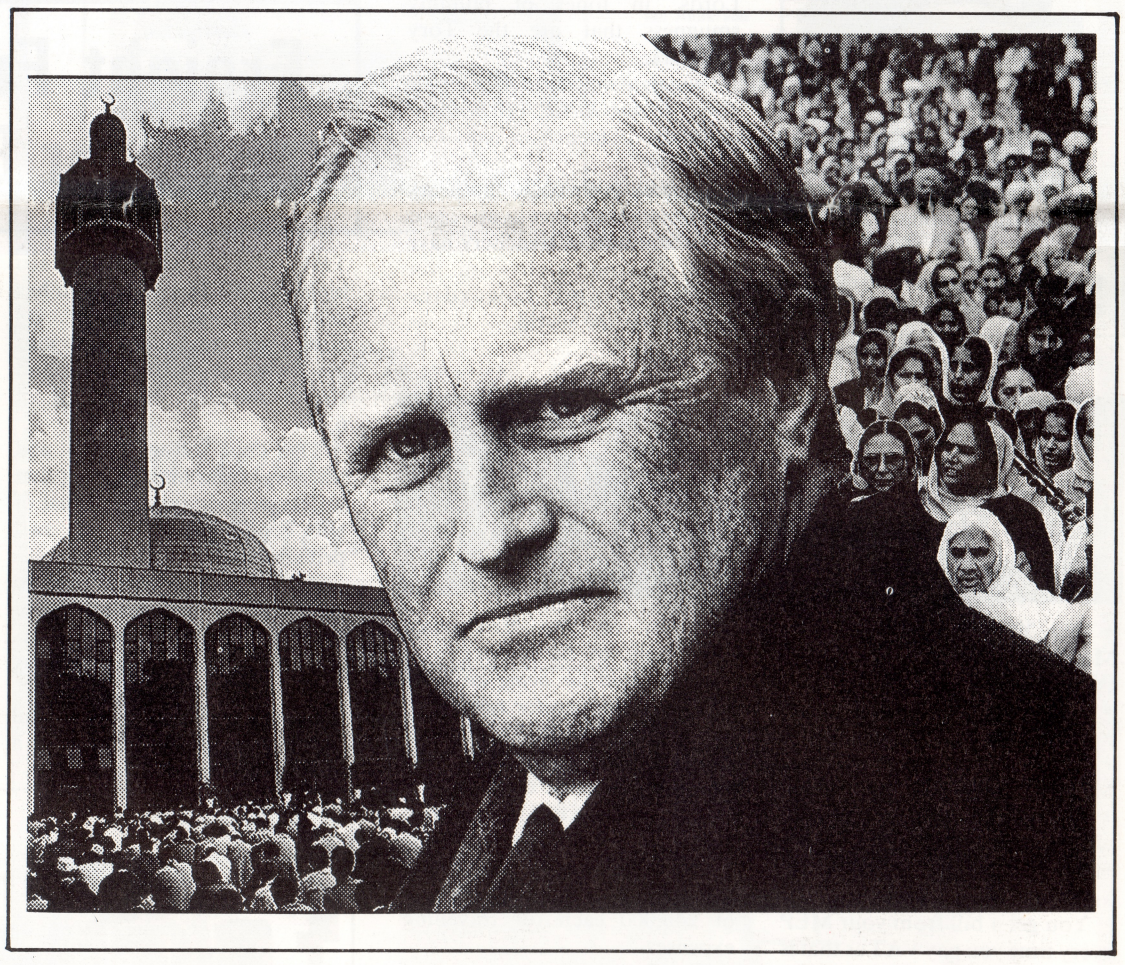
★ . . in Britain a self-styled 'Moslem Parliament' is trying to impose its own intolerant ideas on the rest of Britain while other Moslem groups are trying to set up their own education system - this all leading to a Moslem state within Britain.

★ . . in many parts of our cities, particularly in the North-West and Midlands there is a simmering race war with Asian, Black and White gangs roaming the streets.

★ . . in places like Southall Asian gangs are turning the borough into a British 'Los Angeles'.

In America and Germany widespread racial conflict has given rise to violent, extremist and neo-Nazi groups. Britain must act quickly if we are to avoid this frightening prospect.

The agitation of fanatical groups such as the Socialist Workers Party and Militant, who use Black and Asian people to promote their own ends, simply makes the whole situation worse.



Most mainstream politicians are too scared of losing the ethnic vote to do anything except grovel to the every whim of ethnic community leaders and their media friends. It takes a maverick such as Winston Churchill or Enoch Powell to voice the fears of most people. In return all they get is abuse from the media and the political establishment.

ENOCH POWELL: Another Tory maverick who faced abuse from both the media and political establishment for voicing peoples' fears over immigration.

ATTACKED

Within hours of his speech Mr Churchill was attacked by Asian Labour MP Keith Vaz saying that his remarks were " . . bordering on the insane". Conservative MPs also showed their ethnic credentials. Government minister Charles Wardle described Mr Churchill's speech as "out of order", while Sir Rhodes Boyson called Mr Churchill "illiterate". The latter was no doubt concerned about his majority in Brent North where 70% of the voters are Black or Asian.

The truth is that none of the three main parties will ever do anything to steer Britain away from the danger of racial conflict. With large parts of our inner cities now dominated by ethnic 'minorities' an outbreak of racial violence would be far worse than seen in Los Angeles and could easily degenerate into a situation like that in the former Yugoslavia.

It is no use politicians sticking their heads in the sand and ignoring the situation. They are no doubt hoping that as the years go by the racial violence will decrease but that will not be the case. In Yugoslavia the combatants have lived next to each other for generations yet the mutual hatred erupted at the very first opportunity resulting in the slaughter that we see on our televisions every evening.

The only guaranteed way of avoiding this hell is to return people to their land of ethnic origin: Somalis to Somalia, Indians to India, Bengalis to Bengal, Nigerians to Nigeria and to leave Britain for the British people.

COURAGE

This may not be the ideal solution but it is the only one we have got. It was far from an ideal policy to admit millions of immigrants to Britain in the first place and for the last 40 years the British people have suffered the consequences. The National Front is the only political party in Britain with the courage to implement a policy of phased, financially-assisted repatriation of immigrants to their own countries. It is the common sense policy to avert the impending 'Rivers of Blood' racial conflict.

WORLD WAR II: South African flyers made a big contribution to operations.

THE DISGRACEFUL TREATMENT OF OUR WAR HEROES

by Ted Budden

A GREAT many members of the R.A.F., past and present, have been infuriated and humiliated by the Goverment's refusal to allow them to invite the South African Air Force to take part in the R.A.F.'s 75th birthday celebrations.

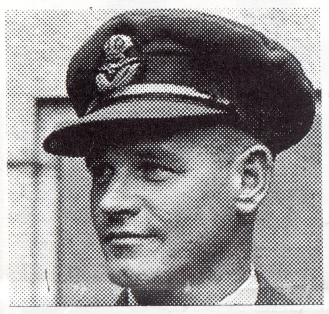
For they remember the contribution made by South Africa's airmen during the war; heroes like 'Sailor' Malan who became one of the R.A.F.'s most famous air aces during the Battle of Britain. South African flyers contributed heavily to British air operations in North Africa and Italy, often flying near-obsolete aircraft. As Air Vice-Marshall Freddy Hurrel pointed out when expressing his disappointment at their exclusion;

"Of all the contingents in the R.A.F. during the war, the South Africans had proportionately the highest losses".

However, far from expressing their gratitude for the sacrifice of the brave men who came from the far corners of the Empire to die in our defence; the junior defence minister Viscount Cranbrook stated in the House of Lords, in tones of plummy smugness that are the Tory hallmark:

"to invite the South African Air Force to the R.A.F. celebrations would be a breach of sanctions guidelines".

By such behaviour this Tory Government shames us all. Their successive acts of treachery have made Britain a byword for duplicity and cowardice throughout the world.



'SAILOR' MALAN: One of the RAF's most famous air aces during the Battle of Britain.

OLD FOLK UNDER FIRE

FACED WITH a debt of £50 Billion incurred on 'Black Wednesday' as the Government tried in vain to keep Sterling in the ERM, the Government are squeezing every penny they can from the British people in an effort to balance the books.

With Britain's public assets hawked off to the highest bidder and very little left of the family silver to pawn, the men in grey suits are trying to juggle the figures to raise revenue.

The Department of Social Security has come up with a ruse that will hit Britain's most vulnerable section of the community the hardest. The DSS is pressurising pensioners into having their pensions and benefits paid directly into a bank or building society account once a month or quarterly IN ARREARS.

By the very nature of the payments, a week cash payment at a Post Office changed to a quarterly direct debit paid into a bank provides the Government with a cash windfall for 3 months.

The banks will also make a killing by taking bank charges from all this new found business leaving pensioners with even less money to manage on.

But this short term move to raise money will have a disastrous effect on Britain's Post Offices. Many rely on DSS work for their survival and if that work is taken from them then they will be forced to close.

POST OFFICES: Their existence is threatened by Direct Debit payments.

Post Offices play an important role in the community. They are a contact point in many rural areas and the centre for the community. DSS work gives the Post Office a purpose and many Post Offices provide a further service to the community by acting as a shop as well, selling a variety of other goods.

But they are only able to do this because of the pension and benefit work - take that away from them and the shop will close which will, in many cases, mean the end of the community and the end of the village.

Isn't it typical of this uncaring Government that they should pick on the old and frail to penalise for their mistakes in managing the economy.

THE NATIONAL FEDERATION OF SUBPOSTMASTERS

Tories Close Warren Spring

THE GOVERNMENT showed its true colours at the beginning of June and they certainly weren't GREEN!

President of the Board of Trade, Michael Heseltine, fresh from his slaughter of the miners, turned his attention to the environment and closed down Britain's leading environmental laboratory for monitoring pollution.

Warren Spring laboratory near Stevenage researches air and marine pollution, factory emissions, acid rain, recycling, contaminated land and industrial waste.

150 of the 265 staff are to lose their jobs with the other technicians transferred to Culham in Oxfordshire.

The closure of the laboratory not only cuts the volume of environmental research but also goes against the principles of a recent White Paper on science and engineering. It also makes a nonsense of Government pledges on job security made to the staff at Warren Spring only last year.

The appalling Heseltine said the closure of the laboratory would save money.

Freight Future Only Hope for British Rail

THE SWISS-Swedish train builder ABB Transportation has made one-seventh of its workforce redundant. 900 jobs are to go in Derby, York and Crewe from its total staff of 6,134.

The cuts follow losses and warnings from management that orders were drying up because of the uncertainty over rail privatisation.

ABB Transportation used to be BREL the engineering arm of British Rail before it was privatised in 1989 and bought by Asea Brown Boveri.

Jimmy Knapp of the Rail Union sees the job losses as a savage indictment of the Government's privatisation strategy. The ABB Chief Executive Bo Söndersten said that unless there was a steady order replacement " . . . Britain's railway industry will not survive".

The National Front believes that Britain's railway system is the mode of transport for the future. It should be brought back into the public domain and have massive investment. Britain's roads network is wilting under the freight burden and the NF would see the move to transfer freight on to the railways as a key to making the system profitable.

BATTLE FOR SURVIVAL: BR needs regular rolling stock replacement.

It's Made in Spain

DON'T BUY the L-registration Ford Fiesta hatchbacks when they come on to the market in August.

They have been imported from Ford's Valencia plant in Spain and threaten British jobs at the company's Dagenham plant.

In 1992 Ford sacked 4,000 workers at Dagenham blaming it on the slump in UK car sales, now they can't meet the demand and have had to import from Spain.

A LESSON BRITAIN MUST LEARN FROM JAPAN!

THE BRITISH people should take a leaf out of the Japanese book with regard to being loyal to goods made in your own country.

The Japanese virtually refuse to buy foreign goods when they can buy the same or similar items that have been 'Made in Japan'. The latest example of their patriotic fervor concerns the much acclaimed Land Rover Discovery heavy terrain vehicle.

A motoring status symbol of Britain's middle classes, the Discovery has created a lot of interest in Japan. However as most Japanese wouldn't be seen dead in a foreign-made vehicle, Land Rover have overcome the difficulty by labelling the Discovery HONDA.

It is the first time that a Japanese manufacturer has put its own badge on a foreign car for the Japanese market. Honda has a 20% stake in the Rover Group.

The fact that the export orders won by this ruse has created 300 jobs at Rover's Solihull plant near Birmingham is to be applauded but it is a pity that the name of Land Rover has had to be devalued in an effort to win the order.

But the real lesson of this episode is the determination of the Japanese people to ensure that their country maintains its position as the leading motor manufacturer.

If only the British people would insist on driving British-made cars.

If only the British people 'wouldn't be seen dead' driving a foreign-made vehicle.

Then Britain would be the world leader in manufacturing motor cars and British industry would be booming!

On The Gravy Train With Your M.E.P.!

★ DO YOU know who your Member of the European Parliament is?

★ Do you know how to get in touch with them?

★ When did you last see your MEP?

★ When was the last time they were in your area?

★ When did you last hear anything from them?

You get a bill from your MEP every time you pay VAT as that is where much of the EEC's money comes from. Brussels now controls the levels of VAT within the EC and the rate is not allowed to fall below 15%.

Each British MEP receives a basic salary of £30,854 per annum. On top of this they receive the following allowances:

- A subsistence allowance of £128 per day for every day that they are away from home.
- An attendance allowance of £130 per day for every day they sign in to the European Parliament at Strasbourg - so they get paid for being an MEP and for turning up for work!
- An allowance of £52,692 per annum for secretarial and research assistance costs.

An allowance for other office costs of £23,060 per annum.

On top of all this, during 1992 British MEPs claimed an average of £40,000 each for travelling expenses.

The British people are being robbed by their MEPs and robbed by the EC itself. In 1991 Britain contributed £1.25 Billion more to the European Community than she received. In 1992 that figure rose to £2.25 Billion - enough to build and equip 120 hospitals.

No wonder the National Front's rallying cry is "Get Britain out of the European Community NOW!".

A MEAL TICKET FOR LIFE: The job of Member of the European Parliment is one where they get paid for turning up for work as well as receiving a salary!

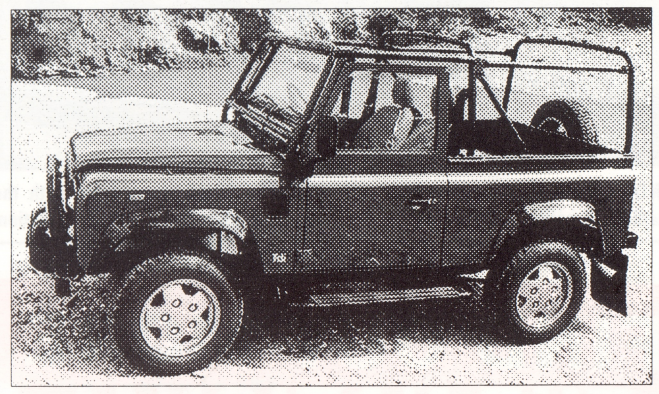
DOLE QUEUE FUTURE FOR 500 OF OUR BEST OFFICERS

THE ROYAL Air Force has been told by the Government to shed 2,200 more personnel by 1995.

The cuts will reduce RAF personnel to well below the level set by the Options for Change defence review which set the service's total strength at 75,000.

Some 500 of our best trained officers will be dumped onto the dole queue and Britain's defence capability stretched even further with the RAF forced to contract outside help to complete vital maintenance work.

Armed Forces Minister, Jeremy Hanley, said the cuts were necessary as cost-cutting measures. So now the defence of Britain is being put at risk in an effort to raise money to cover-up this Tory Government's mismanagement of the economy.



LAND ROVER: Britain's motoring status symbol will now be on sale in Japan with the Honda label attached.

JEWEL IN THE CROWN: Paula Carmichael polled a very encouraging 106 votes in Cannock which was 6.2% of votes cast.

JOHN McAULEY: Polled 86 votes in his ward.

ENCOURAGEMENT FROM NF'S ELECTION EFFORTS

YET AGAIN the National Front has managed to significantly increase its vote in the May local elections - and this despite the fact that there were no elections in the large urban areas of London and the West Midlands where the NF is strongest.

Of course, we still have an awful long way to go, on average we are still only getting the support of about one person in 35 but we are moving firmly in the right direction. Until the last General Election in April 1992 the National Front was unable, except on rare occasions, to achieve more than 2% of the vote anywhere. In these May elections only one out of the six votes was below this level and this was because of a particular local factor.

The dramatic change in image of the National Front has caused immense difficulties as we have moved away from the usual form of activity. However we are now seeing that it has all been worthwhile as we start to move away from the fringe of British politics and on to the central stage.

These elections confirm the growing strength and depth of the National Front. They also emphasise the need to maintain the changes we have made and to resist any temptation to allow the party to slip back into its old ways.

The jewel in the crown of the results was Paula Carmichael's 6.2% in Cannock which was the best result outside London for over 10 years. A lot of work has been carried out in this ward and the image of the National Front in South Staffordshire is excellent. In Chadsmoor Andy Carmichael also achieved a very good result and the two combined gives the National Front a firm base in the area for expansion.

Gary achieved a very encouraging 2% of the vote at this first ever NF election in Exeter. The local Reds were shocked by the result which has given the National Front in the South-West of England a very welcome boost.

HERTFORDSHIRE

Over the last few years we have been making steady progress in Hertfordshire but until now we have only been able to field one local election candidate at any one time. Recent growth enabled the Party to field three candidates, more than for over ten years. The result achieved by Simon Deacon was poarticularly pleasing as this ward was the most rural of all those contested.

Once again a very secure base from which the National Front can grow has been established. Within Home Counties North the NF is now expanding to other parts of the region with the intention of fielding still more candidates in next year's district elections.

IT IS commonly held that there are Lies, Damned Lies and Statistics and there is every reason to be wary of figures that purport to show particular trends.

However there is no getting away from the fact that the National Front's electorial success is increasing at a dramatic rate. The latest batch of local election results all show an increase on previous results and have moved well ahead of the dismal results of the late 1980's.

By-elections, both local and parliamentary will continue to be important to us but the sternest test that the Party has faced for ten years comes with next year's local council elections and the European elections when over one million people will have the opportunity to vote National Front.

GOOD RECEPTION FOR NATIONAL FRONT

THE NATIONAL Front made front page headlines on May 7th in the Warrington Guardian after a day of action in the town that saw the horrific IRA bomb attack in April.

Six NF members from South Lancashire distributed 2000 leaflets demanding the restoration of the death sentence for terrorism and murder. The message was understandably very well received by the public.

Twenty-five copies of The FLAG and True Brit were sold to a cross section of the community in one and a half hours.

North West Regional Organiser Stephen Ebbs told the local media that the response had been very encouraging and that there were possibilities of a local branch being formed.

"Many members of the public were sympathetic to the National Front and expressed their disgust that Labour Party MPs and MEPs shared a platform with Sinn Fein" he said.

Activity in North-West London

ON SATURDAY 5th June the new North-West London Branch of the National Front held its first major activity. About 20 National Front members met up in Pinner for a paper sale and leafletting session.

During the morning papers were sold and leaflets given out. A number of people asked questions and engaged in conversation with the NF sellers. Almost all those who showed an interest were sympathetic but as always on these occasions there were a couple of Reds who got very upset indeed. They jumped up and down in agitation and tried to snatch the papers from a seller.

The police were quickly on the scene and moved the 'ranting Reds' away leaving the NF to get on with the activity. After a well deserved lunchtime drink, members distributed leaflets door-to-door on a nearby estate.

The papersale followed on from some steady recruitment in the area over the past few months. It is intended to elect a full committee to run the branch by the end of the summer. Members in the area who wish to help build this new branch should contact Head Office until a local address is obtained.

Front Launch Branch in Worcester

AFTER AN absence of a good few years a National Front branch has been launched in Worcester. The first meeting took place on 26th May and as well as a number of new members it was also pleasing to see some old faces returning to the fold.

At the enthusiastic meeting a number of activities were decided upon which should ensure the growth of the branch. Already the National Front has received publicity in the local press with controversy raging over the NF's 'Support the Miners' campaign to keep the British Coal Mining industry alive.

Members and supporters in the Worcestershire area are encouraged to get in touch with the branch which at present can be contacted by writing to: The Secretary, Worcester National Front, P.O.Box 114, Solihull, West Midlands.

What they said . . .

"I don't know why I am standing for the Tories, I usually stand as an Independent. I've seen your election leaflet and I agree with everything in it. I will be in touch after the election".
A Tory Candidate.

"If the National Front beats us I'm resigning".

"I see you have brought your fan club".

NF's Most Efficient Branches

WITH THEIR good performance in the recent local elections Home Counties North NF has gone into a commanding lead, however Birmingham are still putting in a determined challenge in an effort to retain the trophy in September. The best figure for last month came from West London with an excellent 287 points largely as a result of their expansion in Hounslow.

In mid-table there is now fierce competition and as predicted Essex and East London have surged from 12th place last month to 8th place this month. It's too late to mount a serious challenge this year but the branch is building a firm platform for next year. With several new branches being formed competition is bound to increase and those branches which forget to send in their forms will end up bottom of the table very quickly indeed.

Last year the Branch Efficiency Trophy was won by Birmingham Branch with just over 1,500 points. This year the top three branches are all well past this point and it looks as if 2,500 will be needed by the winning branch which demonstrates the enormous increase in the level of activity this year.

Queen Should Defend THE FAITH!

By Bernard Franklin

THE QUEEN is supposed to be 'Defender of the Faith' and 'Head of our Nation'. When the Government suddenly proclaimed Britain a multi-cultural and multi-faith country and that Christianity here is of no more importance than Islam or Hinduism, the Queen should have spoken out to defend our faith.

Britain needs a Royal Family. But it needs one that is above reproach and that stands for all that is excellent in our exclusively British way of life. The Royal Household has been plagued by mis-fortune in recent years and many of the glaring errors of judgement can be laid at the door of who have advised them.

Only Christian members of our Nation should make decisions on our national institutions and only those with impeccable British credentials should be advising the Royal Family. It is also important that the British people ensure the survival of the Monarchy by becoming vocal on issues and making it well known to the advisers of the Royal Household that the Monarch must carry out duties as originally intended and laid down over the centuries.

B.B.C. PROMOTES SUCH A BLATANTLY BIASED CASE ON RACE

MURDER IS MURDER. It is totally reprehensible and the full force of the law should be brought down on those who perpetrate the act. The National Front alone is the only political party in Britain that campaigns for the return of capital punishment for murderers, terrorists and large-scale drug dealers.

It is proper that people should be outraged at the act of murder but the killing of a Black teenager by White youths in Eltham just recently provoked a reaction from the BBC unparalleled for any other murder in recent years.

What really seemed to upset the BBC was the fact that the victim was Black and the assailants White, thus compounding murder with impropriety. It seems to have been this totally unacceptable role reversal that inspired the BBC's hysteria.

The victim's parents were interviewed at great length, an ordeal that must have caused them great pain. Surely the BBC could have given them some privacy to come to terms with their grief - but no, again and again interviewer after interviewer dredged up the heartache.

Also interviewed were sundry anti-racists. Their allegations that the police were doing nothing were treated as though they were irrefutable. Black 'community leaders' were given free rein to complain about wicked Whites attacking innocent Blacks, aided in these allegations by the statuatory White priest and other White liberal hangers-on.

The impression left, and doubtless intended, was of law-abiding Blacks beset by lawless Whites. Just another of those reflections from the BBC's distorting mirror.

For the BBC does not devote programmes to the infinitely more numerous White victims of Black murderers and rapists. Well of course not - that would be bad for race relations and might assauge the guilt that White people are supposed to feel; thus hindering the well-orchestrated persecution of all those who object to immigration into this country.

The furore raised by the media over the death of Black teenager Stephen Lawrence was not reflected in their coverage of a recent incident in Brighton where a group of White youngsters were attacked by a gang of Asian youths. Seven people were stabbed in what police described as "frenzied attacks". All the victims were White. All the knifers were Asian. Four Whites were detained in hospital with serious injuries and two had to undergo emergency surgery for multiple wounds to stomachs, backs and shoulders.

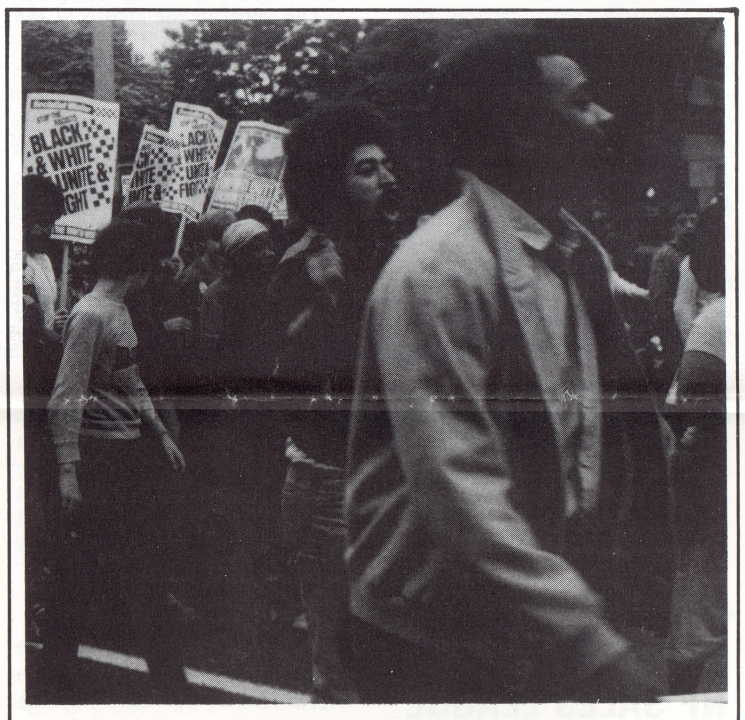
BY TED BUDDEN

Seven Asian knifemen were arrested by the police.

The horrific attack made headlines in the local paper for one day only. The following day a one column inch item reported that seven Asians had been released on police bail since when the silence has been positively errie.

One can only suppose that the mass stabbing of White people by Asians in this country is now so commonplace that it is no longer considered newsworthy. It is certain that there will be no BBC programme fulminating against Asians who so frequently and readily stab British people.

What we shall get, and what we actually got a couple of days later, was a BBC 'playlet' - a fiction. It was a story, as the newspapers' TV pages were happy to describe without comment, "of two Asian youths attacked by a National Front gang".



ON THE MARCH: Such BBC programmes leave the impression that law-abiding Blacks are beset by lawless Whites.

BRITAIN'S NEEDY: Put at risk because of water supply cut-offs.

TWIN EVILS LEAD TO DYSENTERY EPIDEMIC

IMMIGRATION AND privatisation, two of the greatest evils inflicted on the British people by successive Tory Governments are being held responsible for an epidemic of dysentery that is sweeping the country.

The spread of the bacterium Shigella sonnei from not washing hands after going to the toilet had been steadily growing in areas of condensed Asian population in Birmingham, West Yorkshire and North West Lancashire, but now the disease viral hepatitis is spreading to other areas of Britain.

Public health experts believe that there is a link between the cut-off off water supplies to homes and the 17% increase in this disease in the last year.

Water privatisation has sent water prices through the roof and families unable to meet the increased charges have been cut off with no regard to safety or hygiene leaving them vulnerable to disease.

Dysentery should have been eradicated with the introduction of clean water supplies 100 years ago but the twin evils of immigration and privatisation have led to its TEN FOLD increase in the last two years!

Just for the Sake of Change

THE GUIDES movement has now altered its pledge of allegiance to suit foreigners who may not wish to honour our Christian beliefs.

Last year the word 'Girl' was dropped from the title Girl Giudes to appease the feminist lobby. In Britain it has always been the Boy Scouts and Cubs for the boys and the Girl Guides and Brownies for the girls. Why on earth do people have to meddle and change things just for the sake of change.

It is disappointing that a stand was not made against this change of oath especially as Princess Margaret is the movement's president.

BRITISH OIL MUST ONLY BE CARRIED BY BRITISH SHIPS & BRITISH CREWS

THE COLLISION between bulk carrier Western Winner, registered in Panama crewed by Korean officers and Burmese ratings, and the Bermudan-registered 20 year-old BP tanker British Trent with its crew from Sierre Leone, just off Ostend at the beginning of June was a disaster that was waiting to happen.

Nine crewmen lost their lives in a fireball after the port bow of the Western Winner collided with the port side of the British Trent tearing a 30ft gash in her side and setting her ablaze.

The Channel lanes that the British Trent was about to join are one of the busiest in the world with some 36,000 shipping movements a year. However with up-to-date ships and competent crews even these busy lane should be safe and pose no problems to the ships in transit.

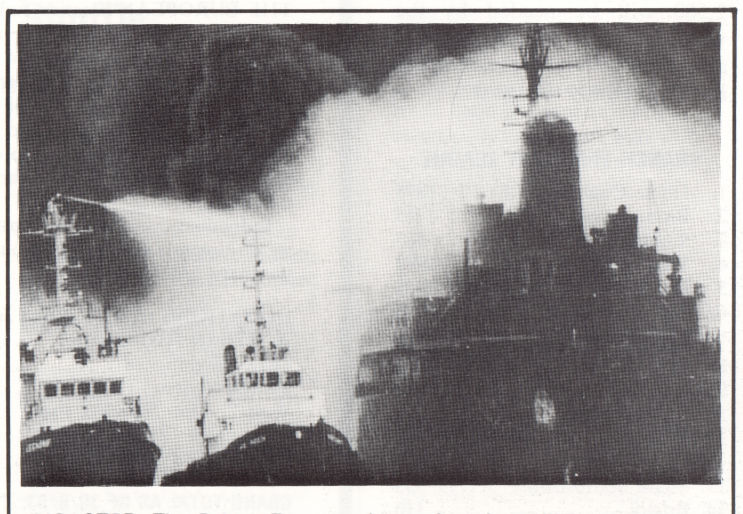
But many of the ships using this thoroughfare, so close to the British coastline, are not up-to-date and the crews are certainly not competent leading to a record 400% rise in near misses' incidents in the Channel between 1986 and 1991.

The reason for this rise is the fact that companies are transporting their products in ships bearing the Flag of Convenience which are ships based in countries where there are no safety checks and no register for inspection. Ship owners are also getting rid of experienced British crews and replacing them with cheap foreign crews which is pure madness when 90% of collisions at sea are caused by human error.

Between 1985 and 1991 one such Flag of Convenience country, Panama, lost 216 ships which was 13% of the 1,679 vessels lost worldwide.

The National Front would ban any British-based shipping from carrying the 'Flag of Convenience', and we would insist British shipping be manned by British crews. Companies such as BP who left the UK register of shipping in 1984 to sail under Bahamian and Bermudan flags would be told to return to the UK register or face exclusion from British terminals.

It is a scandal that British vessels, which have the best safety record in the world, carry just 10% of the oil exported and imported into Britain.



DISASTER: The British Trent is abaze after the collision.

DENTAL SERVICE IN DECAY

DENTISTS ARE threatening the health of the nation's teeth by refusing to treat patients on the National Health Service.

Especially vulnerable are children, with figures just released indicating a 13% increase in tooth decay in children of twelve years old.

Changes in the structure of pay has been the main reason why children are suffering. Under new contracts dentists are no longer paid for each task performed on children, but receive a lump sum for every patient under 18 on their books.

Victims of this system have been children with a poor dental history who have been turned away by dentists because treating them would mean extra work for the same pay. Dentists now are directly touting for patients with an excellent dental histories so they are being paid for the minimum amount of work.

The National Front believes that dental treatment must be firmly brought back under the umbrella of the National Health Service with dentists who refuse to treat NHS patients serverely penalised through tax or levy.

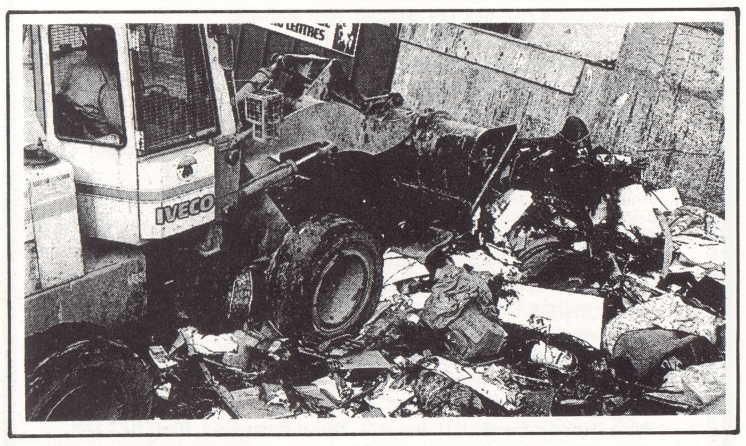
Public's Health Threatened by Waste Tips

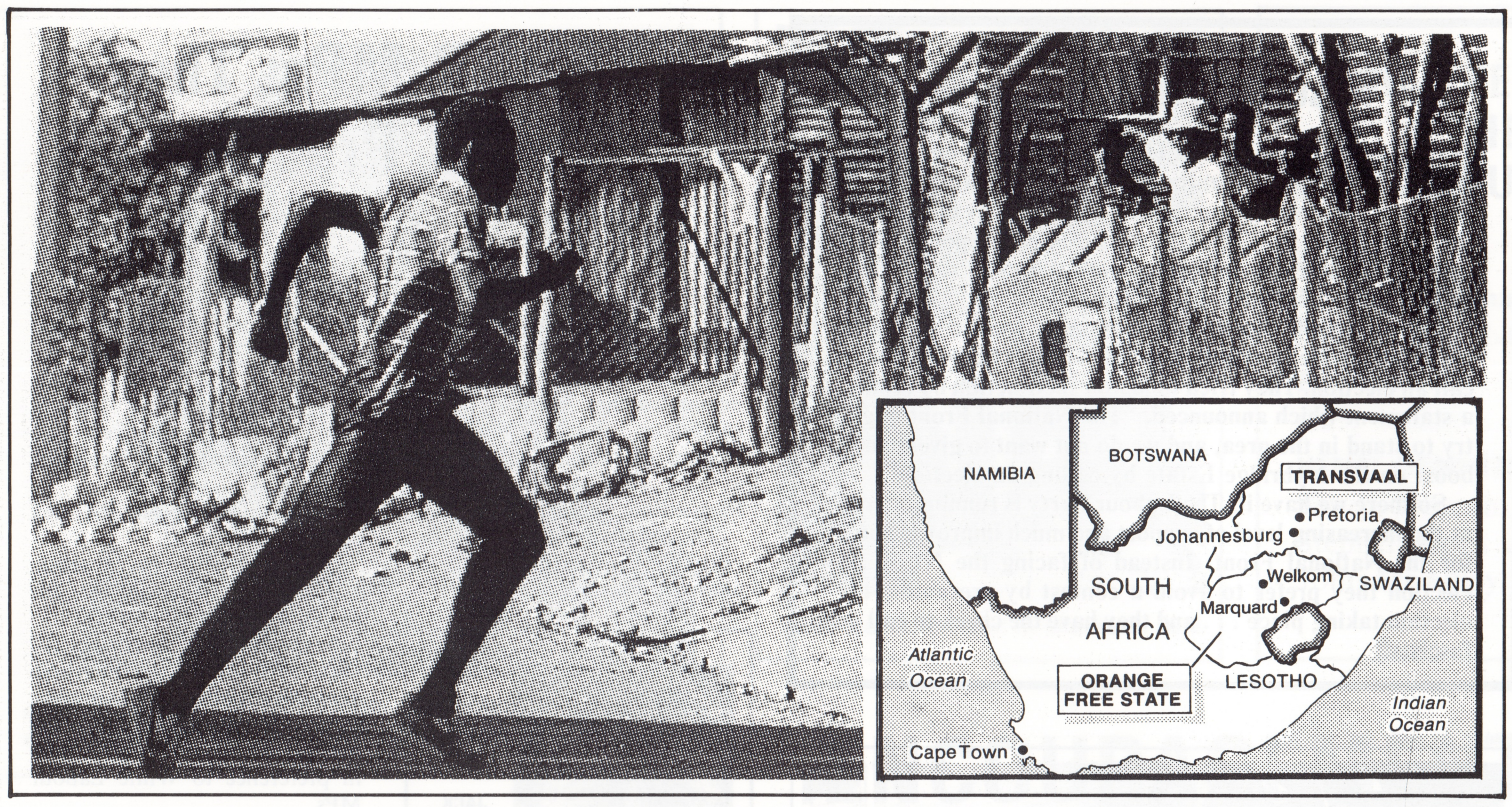
THE TAXPAYER is having to pick up the bill for waste management companies who pack their bags and move on leaving tips in a dangerous state.

A quarter of the waste tips in England have been closed by companies in the first few months of 1993 in order to avoid new rules on cleaning up pollution. At present local authorities are responsible for cleaning up derelict tips that leak toxic liquids or explosive landfill gas which is costing taxpayers tens of millions of pounds.

The new rules will make waste tip operators responsible for their sites even after closure.

But Government inaction on the threat to the public's health as well as their purse, has still meant that the problem has yet to be resolved. The new licensing system for waste disposal sites under the 1990 Environmental Protection Act was due to come into effect on April 1st. It was then put back to June and now has been delayed until further notice!





LITTLE HOPE FOR THE FUTURE AS SOUTH AFRICA

RACES TOWARDS WAR!

PRESIDENT DE KLERK, darling of the Western World, is about to plunge South Africa into its most bloody war since the 1890's. Buckling under the immense pressure that has been applied by the "International Community" he is preparing to hand over power to a gang of thugs called the African National Congress.

BY IAN ANDERSON

While he stands like some latter day Nero, the various racial groupings are preparing for the inevitable explosion of violence. The terrorist ANC under the nominal leadership of Nelson Mandela has always had a large armed wing and until very recently one of its main chants was: "Kill the Boer, Kill the Farmer".

The real reins of power, however, have been taken away from Mandela who is now little more than a figurehead. He has been forced to press for a reduction in the voting age to 14 so that the young ANC members of Umkhonto we Sizwe - their armed wing - can vote in any future election.

Even more extreme than the ANC is the Pan Africanist Congress (PAC), seventy-three of whose members were recently arrested on terrorist offences including murder. Yet the PAC is included in the multi-party constitutional talks which have been framing a new constitution. Earlier this year senior PAC official, Maxwell Nemadzivhani, boasted "White farmers are legitimate targets".

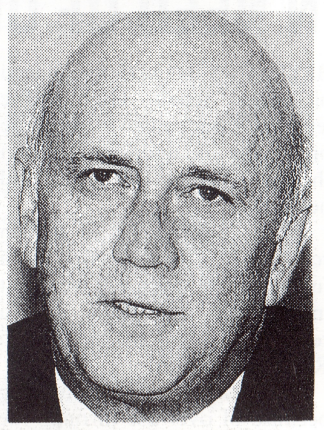
These various black leaders are making the rash assumption that the White Afrikaner people are as spineless as De Klerk or members of the British Government - They are not! The whole history of South Africa has been one of constant struggle against outside interference, hostility and armed intervention. The Boer settlers secured their land against invading Zulus who did not inhabit South Africa but lived further north.

Barely had this been achieved before the Imperial British Goverment sought to impose its authority resulting in the Boer Wars which cost thousands of lives. The Boers were only beaten in the end by the stationing of tens of thousands of British troops in South Africa and the incarceration of whole Boer communities, including women and children, in concentration camps.

The modern day Boer has been brought up on this history of oppression and they still have the tenacity to fight for their future. Politically the nationalist Conservative Party is gaining strength while De Klerk's National Party is showing signs of splitting apart. Some of their members have raised the White Flag and are hoping for favours from a future Communist ANC government, but many more are remembering their history and flocking to the Conservative Party.

Meanwhile gun sales to White families have soared and former South African Defence Force General, Constand Viljoen has emerged to lead a new nationalist front to fight for Afrikaner rights. Unless the prospect of an ANC dictatorship is removed South Africa is going to lurch into a full-scale genocidal war which will make Yugoslavia look like a minor disagreement.

The only way that the Communist ANC will be able to impose its corrupt and evil rule over all others in South Africa is with the foreign intervention of the United Nation 'blue beret' troops. This appalling prospect is a very real one. We can only hope that John Major has learnt his lesson from the debacle in Bosnia and won't seek to involve Britain in any role in South Africa.



DE KLERK: Latter day Nero

The National Front believes that the best result that can now be achieved is an early partition of the country - a goal that is now shared by the White Afrikaner and by Zulu nations who both simply want to determine their own future.

RUSSELL'S HALL OLD BOYS LIFT TOM WHITHALL TROPHY

THE ANNUAL five-a-side football competition for the Tom Whitehall Trophy was organised again by Dudley National Front. As well as arranging the pitches and providing fully professional referees they also laid on a barbeque and other sideshows which made the day highly enjoyable.

The football itself was of a very high standard and the teams participating gave no quarter and showed an eager determination to win the trophy. The eventual winners were Russell's Hall Old Boys who beat the Saxons of Solihull in the final.

At the end of the day the very handsome Tom Whitehall Trophy was presented by Wolverhampton National Front with medals for the winners and runners-up. A big thank you to Dudley National Front who organised the event.

Also on the day the British Heritage Raffle was drawn by Dudley Secretary Lorraine Cartwright. The result was:

1st Prize: 3" Colour Television Set
Ticket No. 2598 Peter - London E10.

2nd prize: Walkman Radio
Ticket No. 2964 Kevin - Bolton, Lancs.

3rd Prize: Parker Pen Set
Ticket No. 1609 S. Brewer - Exeter, Devon.

BELOW: The Solihull Saxon goalkeeper gets down to save as Russell's Hall Old Boys pile on the pressure in the last few minutes of the final.

BRITISH HERITAGE RAFFLE: Dudley NF Secretary Lorraine Cartwright draws the winning ticket.

Rip Van Winston

THOSE OF US WHO have for so many years understood the dire consequences of coloured immigration have enjoyed much wry amusement at the recent outburst of Winston Churchill M.P.

For Mr Churchill seems only just to have noticed that there are rather a lot of coloured immigrants around these days and that they have virtually taken over large areas of our towns and cities. Furthermore, they are filtering out into the countryside - our very own Prince Charles, for instance, employs a Rastafarian shepherd on his Gloucestershire farm.

One can only hazard a guess as to where Mr Churchill has been all these years. Has he, like most of his colleagues, studiously averted his gaze and preferred not to see those things that might hinder his political advancement? Can it be that the scales fell from his eyes only when he realised that his prospects of political preferment are precisely nil? Or is it that, like Rip Van Winkle, he had a protracted nap and woke up to find that his world has changed out of all recognition?

Just as criminals try to blame someone else for their crimes, Mr Churchill's Tory colleagues were quick to condemn him for his temerity in mentioning the unmentionable. They heaped their wrath on his hapless head for rocking the Tory boat (or rust bucket) when it is already sinking fast. "Lies" they shout, "He has got his facts wrong". Of course, of course.

This too was the line taken by the 'quality' Tory Press. The Daily Telegraph', for instance, in a sneering leading article, spoke slightingly of poor Winston's abilities and declared that official figures 'proved' that there are a mere 1.5 million coloured immigrants in this country.

Ah yes, those official statistics. Well, as we all know, there are "lies, damn lies, and statistics" - and of course, leaders in The Telegraph'. It is common knowledge that shady Asian firms employ large numbers of illegal immigrants and keep them working in slave conditions by threatening to expose them. The Black illegal immigrant working at Threshers off-licence was only exposed because he was so confident of his position that he tried to make a bit of cash on the side by revealing the awful secret of Norman Lamont's purchases to the press. Just the other day, a Jamaican murdered in a drugs-related shoot-out was found to be an illegal immigrant. Such instances are merely the tip of an iceberg that would sink a thousand Titanics.

Even if one were to discount the illegals, it should be noted that articles such as in The Telegraph speak only of 'ethnics' born outside Britain and officially admitted as immigrants. No mention is made of the hordes of their descendants born in this country who are as alien as their parents. One has only to consider the Muslims with their vast troops of children and compare them with the miniscule British family to realise the appalling danger that has belatedly opened even Rip Van Winston's eyes.

"But" say the Parliamentary vermin, "they were born here and they are as British as we are". Guess what. Thirty years ago I was predicting exactly that this is what MPs would be saying in 1993.

But of course the off-spring of immigrants are not and never can be British. If a cat has kittens in a kipper box they do not thereby become kippers. One may be either Black or British not both, for the British are a nation of the White race. One might, of course, question whether it is possible to be truly British and a member of Parliament.

For them, even to mention the fact that the death of the British nation is imminent is taboo.

All those years ago when we robustly exposed the dangers of immigration, we were accused of 'Nazism'. Much later, Enoch Powell, with his much less forthright opposition to the Black tide, was denounced for 'right-wing extremism'. Now I see that Labour MPs are describing Winston Churchill's feeble protests as 'Powellism".

Shortly, no doubt, anyone who presumes to make mention of race at all will be accounted insane - suffering, perhaps, from Winston's Syndrome by proxy.

Britain prepares for the 'Rabies Invasion'

BEFORE THE first spade of earth was dug to start the Channel Tunnel the National Front was warning that the direct route to France would lead to Britain being infected with the killer disease rabies within a matter of years.

The NF were accused of scaremongering and a Tory MP even attacked the idea on a Scottish Television programme on the National Front in 1987 saying,

"This is the sort of xenophobic nonsense they print in their paper" as he held up an article in The FLAG warning on the spread of rabies.

Well it wasn't xenophobic nonsense and now the Government have acknowledged that fact by issuing Rabies protection suits to every major police station in the country.

A Police spokesman at Ramsgate in Kent confirmed the Government action,

"At present rabies is widespread throughout Northern France and is fast approaching the English Channel.

"With the opening of the Channel Tunnel later this year, there is concern that it could provide an easy route for the disease to get established in southern England and then spread to the rest of the country".

THE SHAPE OF THINGS TO COME:

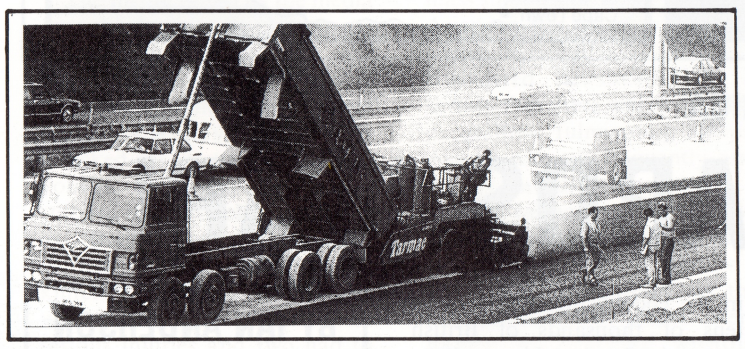
Preparing to deal with the 'Rabies Invasion' brought about by the opening of the Channel Tunnel.

The Fascists of the Labour Party

THE LABOUR PARTY in Hounslow, West London, has become so worried about the growth of the National Front that they are resorting to the desperate tactics of fascism. On 27th May the 'Middlesex Chronicle' reported that senior Labour Party officials were "trying to stop voters going to the polls" in a local by-election.

The Isleworth South seat has been vacant since the beginning of the year but the ruling Labour Party refuse to call an election. They tried to justify their action by issuing a statement which announced, "The National Front might try to stand in the area, and we do not want to give them a boost on the Ivybridge Estate by calling an election".

So there we have it. The Labour Party is running scared at the increasing level of support and much improved votes for the National Front. Instead of facing the NF in an election they prefer to avoid a contest by preventing the election taking place . . . and they have the cheek to call us fascists!!



IN NEED OF URGENT REPAIR!

BRITAIN'S ROADS are in need of urgent repair. High traffic levels and inadequate expenditure on repairs and updating threaten the long term survival of our road network.

About 5,000 miles of British roads need urgent repairs and a further 3,700 miles will wear out in the next four years, says a report published by the British Road Federation.

Our roads are crumbling because of over-use through the transport of freight. The National Front believes the condition and conjestion problems affecting our road network could be relieved at a stroke by incentives to transfer freight to the railways.

Britain has more vehicles in use per mile of road than nearly any other European country. The British vehicle-road ratio is more than 107 to the mile - only Italy has more at 156 to the mile.

LABOUR MPs: They Should Practise What They Preach!

by Stephen Ebbs

THE LABOUR Party's Black Sections Organisation has demanded that Black or Asian candidates should stand for Labour in constituencies where at least 15% of the voters are from ethnic minorities.

The demand would have some interesting repercussions amongst existing Labour MPs with 43 white MPs being dumped along with five members of the Shadow Cabinet. The main casualties would be Deputy Leader Margaret Beckett and Shadow Environment Secretary Jack Straw.

JACK STRAW Wants more Black MPs but he won't stand down.

Jack Straw rejected the idea and said,

"I am all in favour of having more Black and Asian MPs but this is not the way".

Predictably he omits to say how he would increase the ethnic quota in the House of Commons but it is obvious that the only way is to promote Black Labour MPs in preference to White Labour MPs.

Such a policy is called positive discrimination and the British people outside of Parliament have had to endure it for years. If Labour MPs don't like the idea of failing to get selected for their job because they are not Black or Asian, then why have they been imposing it on others?

ILLEGAL IMMIGRATION 'IT'S A BIG PROBLEM'

"IT IS a bigger problem than those in authority care to admit", was how one senior policeman described the influx of illegal immigrants into Britain.

Inspector Terry Gabriel, based in Canterbury, made his remarks after the arrest of 19 Asians in a lay-by on the A299 at Whitstable, Kent after they had been smuggled in through nearby Ramsgate.

"We frequently get incidents of this type", added Inspector Gabriel.

The Demon Drink

I'VE ALWAYS thought there was something peculiar about Americans; now it seems that scientists may have discovered the reason why they are so strange.

For medical researchers in America have been forcing laboratory mice to drink Cola and have discovered that it causes damage to the genetic material in the livers of the unfortunate creatures.

This comes as no surprise to me since the mere thought of drinking Coca Cola has always made me feel distinctly nauseous. Furthermore, I suspect that it is not only the livers of addicts that might be affected. American attitudes towards the rest of the world would seem to indicate a progressive softening of the brain accompanied by paralysis of the logic and moral centres.

We have all seen the dire consequences of the American Disease - sometimes called the Coca Cola culture - firstly on the youth of Western Europe and now; since they've been stripped of the protection afforded by communism; on the youth of Eastern Europe. It should have been easy to forsee that a diet of Big Macs and Coke would lead to something nasty.

This corruption of youth is bad enough but the American Disease now seems to have afflicted many of the world's leaders. We have all seen how Russia has gone to pot since Boris Yeltsin gave up gargling with vodka and started swilling Coca Cola.

As for Margaret Thatcher; she has been infatuated with all things American ever since she was kissed by Ronald Regan. I've always attributed her strange behaviour to an over-enthusiastic bending of the elbow but now it seems likely that she has become addicted to Cola. The softening of the brain caused by Cola seems to be accompanied by a total loss of sense of direction since she, like the Americans, continually insists that Bosnia is at 'the heart of Europe'.

Can it be that she demonstrated her loyalty to America by insisting that Cola be drunk at Cabinet meetings? It certainly seems likely since her erstwhile cronies and lickspittles who now constitute our benighted Government appear equally bereft of any sense of logic. Just as the Americans are baffled and hurt when people they have bombed, rocketed, poisoned and butchered respond with ingratitude and hostility, so our Government is mystified as to why the Iraquis should be so beastly as to arrest and imprison any unfortunate Briton who trespasses on their territory.

Well I mean, all we've done is bomb their cities to rubble, cripple their infrastructure, kill their citizens by the thousand, steal their overseas funds, prevent them buying food and medicine and put an embargo on their sales of oil. That's no reason for them to be resentful, is it?

I tell you the world has gone mad and I attribute it to the American demon drink.

People once thought that the world would perish in some kind of nuclear Armageddon. They were wrong of course. It is now clear that the world will end not with a bang nor with a whimper but with a gurgle as it slowly drowns in a noxious tide of that foul fluid Coca Cola.

Shake-Up & Shuffle

THEY SAY that hope springs eternal in the human breast. Well I suppose it must do for nowadays, as our Government stumbles blindly from one disaster to the next, we find the press screaming for a shake-up and shuffle.

When they talk of shake-up and shuffle they are not, in fact, describing the latest dance craze. What they are actually after is a new round of cabinet changes.

What lies behind this clamour for ministerial to-ing and fro-ing is the desperate hope that somewhere in the lower reaches of government there blushes unseen some rare talent that is about to be realised. And there may be. I mean, take Kenneth Clarke for instance. One day he is the Minister for Health and the next the Minister for Education. Then he becomes the Home Secretary. Almost before he has time to lower his ample backside into the ministerial chair at the Home Office he is called to No. 10 and promoted to the Chancellor of the Exchequer. What a man! I mean, just think of the enormous breadth of experience the man must have; the incredible versatility; the soaring talent. He can fill four entirely different posts with consummate ease almost before you can blink. I tell you, I stand in awe in the giant shadow of this veritable titan.

Of course there are cynical mean-minded people who look at Cabinet changes differently. They say that when a Government is composed entirely of people who know nothing about anything they can be transferred willy-nilly without any danger since they will be equally ignorant in any task they undertake.

They speak of Cabinet 'shuffles' in the same way. Anyone, they say, who plays cards knows that one can't make a duff hand better by shuffling it, especially when the entire pack is composed of knaves and jokers.

Just so. For my part I'm dead against 'shuffles' and go all out for 'shake-ups'. For we all know that our leading politicians are just little peanuts and mouldy ones at that. My vision of a cabinet shake-up is of someone holding a bag of mouldy peanuts and shaking them frantically in the vain belief that there may be a good one in there somewhere that will, in some miraculous fashion, come to the top.

This is where the eternal hope comes in. Alas, I fear that this game of political chairs is doomed to be like Oscar Wilde's description of second marriages - a triumph of hope over experience.

The Ted Budden Column

Ted Budden was a founder member of the National Front. In his column he gives his view of the world.

His comments and observations do not necessarily reflect NF Policy.

The Heritage Game

"THIS IS the way the world ends, not with a bang but a whimper", so wrote T.S.Elliot. Apparently he was wrong. The Western world is not ending with a whimper but with a snigger in a welter of shallow frivolity engendered by vapid placemen masquerading as leaders.

I suppose that in the case of America it was inevitable that this would happen. Any nation that would willingly elect a tenth-rate goofy political opportunist such as the all-plastic president Bill Clinton must surely be determined to fulfil the prophecy that America would progress from barbarism to decadence with nothing in between.

This 'Leader of the Western World' is now revealed as just another unprincipled populist who will rush to embrace any cause that might gain him short term popularity and avidly seek to rub shoulders with the worthless Hollywood glitterati in the belief that their popularity will rub off on him.

I suppose that it is easy to laugh at his efforts to govern by TV; making endless personal appearances and demonstrating how caring and compassionate he is by shedding many a manly tear after the style of a soap opera hero. Easy to laugh at the brainless vanity that made him block the runway at Los Angeles Airport for two hours while his hair was trimmed in the bouffant style that disguises the fact that his head comes to a point.

Easy to laugh at the fact that the White House is now infested by twittering Hollywood movie stars, anxious to demonstrate their social conscience; such people as Michael Douglas, Paul Newman, Richard Dreyfuss, Barbara Streissand and Co. What they all have in common is what Tom Wolfe derisively called radical chic.

Yes, it's easy to laugh at this hollow frivolity and say, "Well that's America for you".

For we know that it couldn't happen here, don't we? I mean, our people are far more conscious of their dignity. We have traditions to uphold. Just so.

Alas for our good opinion of our traditions. The incredibly plummy, unbelievably snobbish, mind-boggling complacent ass who is our very own Heritage Minister is one Peter Brooke. He is the very embodiment of our traditions albeit the worst of them.

Just the other day he went to the wrong hotel, thereby almost missing a very important luncheon engagement. It was with a man who is vitally important to our heritage - the America actor Telly Savalas, better known as Lootenant Nudiebonce in TV crime series 'Kojak'. You may wonder just what vital contribution to our heritage old Nudiebonce is making that a real live Government minister should consider it so important to break bread with him.

So do I. It seems that our politicians, despite their phoney dignity, are just the same as all-plastic Bill Clinton only fatter. Furthermore I'd like to know who paid for the lunch that was so essential to our heritage. I hope it wasn't me!

Who Shall Guard the Guards?

ONE OF the unattractive aspects of the Labour Party is the way in which they seek to heap the blame on the Government for every accident and misfortune.

The way, for instance, in which they sought to blame the Government for the Clapham rail crash, which was caused, they claimed by Government under-funding. Well, the railways are undoubtedly under-funded but the disaster was not caused by that - it was entirely due to the incompetence and sloppy workmanship of railway staff. To suggest otherwise is bearing false witness.

So too with the horrific case of the babies murdered by Beverley Allitt. The Labour Party is suggesting that this was the result of Government under-funding and of the failure to vet the mental condition of people employed in the NHS.

They are calling for a public enquiry - yes, yet another one. In fact the public enquiry industry and crime are the only major growth points in the British economy.

No public enquiry will discover how to prevent loonies working in the National Health Service for there is no way. It is suggested that a 'psychological profiling' of all NHS employees must be undertaken.

Well now, a great many highly qualified doctors are employed as abortionists and routinely commit murder every day of the week. It follows that this 'psychological profiling' of NHS employees would require a veritable horde of psychiatrists. But to paraphase Juvenal's ironic question "Who shall guard the guards themselves?" who shall vet the vetters? Another board of psychiatrists to examine the psychiatrists?

You Have Made the Right Decision

I WOULD like to comment on the National Front's decision to proscribe the British National Party.

I was once briefly a member of this organisation but found some of their ideas very disturbing. While there are some misguided patriots amongst their ranks in the main they are overt neo-Nazis with more than their fair share of cranks and lunatics.

The National Front must distance themselves from these people as far as possible. I fully support the decision of the NF West Midlands Regional Council to ban them.

The National Front is a sane and responsible organisation fighting to win back Britain for the British people. If the Party is to succeed and win the support of the mass of the general public then it must denounce and condemn all forms of fascism. We must concentrate on building the new and modern philosophy of British Nationalism based on individual freedom and social justice.

The National Front appears to be going in the right direction to grow and develop. Here in Redditch I have had 3 to 4 people approach me expressing support and a desire to join the Party and we hope to get something going in our area.

IN MEMORY OF JOHN COTTERILL

Taken With a Dose of Salts

WE HAVE heard many reports from Germany about the ultra-Right's firebombing of Turkish and Kurdish refugee hostels. However in today's world news information tends not to be all that it seems.

In fact many of the stories coming out of Germany should be taken with a dose of salts since most of the 'hostel-burning' is being done between the Turks and the Kurds themselves with whom there is a natural and mutual dislike.

The ensuing disinformation has of course given the new German Government all sorts of problems and forced them to re-examine their new strict immigration laws in the wake of violent protests from immigrants within Germany.

What a Pathetic Government

THIS GOVERNMENT is so pathetic that it makes my blood boil. Just look at their inaction in Britain today and this is over and above their total failure to deal with the threat posed by the IRA.

* Continued inaction by the unpatriotic Lord Chancellor to prosecute Moslem leader Siddiqui despite further death threats against Rushdie in a recent radio interview.
* Runaway Asil Nadir, as well as being bankrupt to the tune of £90 million, was 'squatting' in a luxury Eaton Square flat resisting efforts to evict him for 16 months before he absconded.
* Riot and Ye Shall Be Given! The Department of the Environment has given £25 million to the Broadwater Farm Development.
* Report on the Government's mismanagements of the economy predicts we will lose £30 billion a year for the forseeable future. Drastic action needed but the Tories do nothing.

To cap it all so much for the 'green shoots of recovery'. A graduate with two degrees has killed himself in despair after rejection from 200 jobs.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY Could a White person get this job? Stephen Ebbs doubts it.

Preferential Treatment

I ENCLOSE a copy of an advertisement that appeared in the Lancashire Evening Telegraph dated 22nd May 1993 requiring a project Co-ordinator for the Lancashire Muslim Community Development Project.

In areas of work which have traditionally been strongholds of the ethnic minorities, it is the fashion for job advertisements in these areas to be endorsed something along the lines of "An equal opportunities employer welcoming applications from all sections of the community".

In the post that is advertised, it is clear that this is within the stronghold of the ethnic minorities. Is it because of this that it does not carry an 'equality' endorsement?

One rule for the privileged ethnic minorities and another for the indigenous population, such is the inherent inequality of the allegedly all important liberal ideology*(sic)* of equality.

They are Careerists not Politicians

SO MICHAEL Mates has finally resigned. Big Deal.

What I want to know is why he hung on so long, inflicting days of embarrassment on Her Majesty's Government making it more of a laughing stock than it already was.

Dave Mellor too, hung on to his ministerial position too long. He should have gone BEFORE the first whiff of scandal not that indecently long period after.

Of course there should have been many more cabinet casualties. Norman Lamont should have gone when he had to back down on Black Wednesday, Michael Heseltine should have gone after the disgraceful episode over the pit closure programme, John Patten should have gone after the fiasco he made on the schoolchildren testing issue and John Major should have gone when he was defeated over Maastricht in the House of Commons.

Until very recently politicians would resign on matters of honour and integrity. What ever they did, Parliament was not tainted with their shame or impropriety because they did the decent thing before or when required.

That doesn't happen today because politicians don't care about honour or reputation. They just care about their position of power and the salary that goes with it.

The Tories are the worst offenders. I have been a member of my local Conservative Association for 26 years and always voted Tory - but not any more.

Good luck to you. I enjoy reading your newspaper that comes to me via a friend who is a member of your Party.

AREN'T THERE ENOUGH ALREADY

THE NEW part-time £30,000-a-year chairman of the Equal Opportunities Commission is Kenyan-born Asian Kamlesh Bahl.

She was appointed head of the statutory body over 80 other applicants and will have charge of campaigning for legal changes to benefit women.

KAMLESH BAHL: Concern over Race before women's rights?

But before the women of Britain start celebrating their new found champion they should be made aware that Ms Bahl will not only be fighting for their rights.

"I have also been discriminated against because of my race", she told reporters,

"When I came to Britain at the age of nine I suffered double-discrimination".

Wouldn't you have thought it better that British women have a champion from their own ranks, not another immigrant promoting the cause of ethnic minorities. Aren't there enough of these already?

'Bloody Useless'

THE KWIK-FIT garage chain have been ordered to pay £10,000 in compensation to a manager who was sacked because he was unable to manage his staff.

Robert Young was awarded the maximum compensation at an industrial tribunal in Croydon after claiming that he was demoted and then sacked from his job because he was black.

Kwik-Fit said Mr Young was not sacked because of his race but because he was "bloody useless".

ETHNIC SUGGESTION

by Ted Budden

WIRRAL BOROUGH Council have ordered the childminders it employs to feed their tiny tots with food from 'ethnic minorities' in order that their appreciation of Britain's multi-cultural society might be enhanced.

This move could be described as educational but under what educational heading might it be classified? Introductory Salmonella perhaps?

But of course it should not be thought for a moment that the Council of weirdest Wirral are merely mass poisoners intent on curdling the guts of helpless infants. They aim to corrupt their minds as well. The childminders have also been told to provide their wee charges with toys which reflect our multi-racial society.

For the freakoes employed by the Council's social services department have decided that the children are at present being deprived of a character-enriching experience. As the Deputy Chief Weirdo, one Tom Curran, has plainly stated:

"Many young children in Wirral have never seen a coloured person so when they do they tend to gape and stare. We are merely preparing them".

For precisely what I wonder.

Obviously television transmissions have not yet reached the Wirral. If they had the kiddies would have very little else but coloured folk to gape at. Can it be that the Council dreads the prospect of their children growing up believeing that they are British?

Our Beer is Getting Weaker

BRITAIN'S BEER is getting weaker and weaker and the cost for anyone wanting to get merry is getting more expensive.

At the beginning of June, in an effort to cope with bigger excise duty bills brought about by Government tax increases, Britain's brewers slashed the alcohol content of beers.

Courage, Britain's second biggest brewer after Bass has reduced the alcohol content in nine brands and also the Holsten Pils it imports from Germany.

While best-seller John Smith's Bitter remains untouched, Webster's Yorkshire Bitter is cut from 3.8% to 3.5%. Other changes are:

Hofmeister	3.5 to 3.4%
Holsten Export ..	5.1 to 4.9%
Holsten Pils	6 to 5.5%
Colt	5.4 to 5%
Satzenbrau	6 to 5.5%

Minor reductions have also been made in five regional draught beers: Pennine Bitter, Webster's Green Label and Wilson's Original Bitter in the North of England and Simmonds Bitter and Watney Truman Mild in the South.

So much for the benefits of the European Community, in France beer drinkers pay 25 times less duty than their counterparts in Britain!

Role Models with Little Patriotism and No Traditional Values!

THE BRITISH people shouldn't hold out much hope that the younger generation will be instilled with new found patriotism and seek a return to the traditional values on which our great country was founded.

A survey amongst youngsters between 16 and 19 asked:

"Which people in public life have had the most influence on the ideas and values of young people".

The top four people were Michael Jordan, Bob Geldof, Lenny Henry and Frank Bruno.

But before you think all is lost, there is a ray of hope. The survey was conducted in Brighton, the homosexual capital of Britain, and by no stretch of the imagination can you call the young people of that town normal!!

Nutters Under Threat!

A CURIOUS and quaint custom exercised every Easter Saturday in Bacup in Lancashire has come under fire from the Race Relations Board.

The Coconutters of Rossendale

The Coconutters of Rossendale are world famous for their traditional clog dance through the town every year. It is a custom that stretches back to the 1850's with the dancers blackening their faces, donning clogs, black knee breeches and skirts while holding an arch of flowers.

A Race Relations spokesman said the dance was offensive to Black and Asian people living in Lancashire and the use of coconuts was particularly insensitive as it 'harped back to Britian's days of Empire'.

In fact the 'coconuts' which are worn at the waist, knee and on the palm of the hand are bobbin-tips from the old mills - a memory for British people of our once thriving textile industry before it was destroyed by Third World imports!
